CHARLES DICKERS. CHAPTER YEL-THE SMALLWEED FAMILY.

Continued. Ome might infer, from Judy's appearance, that the business rather lay with the thorus than the flowers: but she has, in her time, been apprenticed to the art and mystery of artificial flower-making. A close observer might perhaps detected in her eye and her brothers, when the venerable grandeline anticipates his being gone, some writtle impartence to know when he may be going, and some resentful opinion that it is time here.

and some resential opinion that it is time he went.

"Now, if every body has done," says Judy, completing her preparations, 'Pil have that girl into her for. She would never leave off, if she look it by herself in the kitchen."

Charley is accordingly introduced, and, under a heavy live of eyes, sats down to her basin and a finished ruin of bread and butter. In the active asperimendence of this young person, Judy Small-sayd appears to attain a perfectly geological age, and to date from the remotest periods. Her systematic manner of flying at her, and pouncing on her, with or without pretenee, whether or no, is wanderful; ethicing an accomplishment in the art of girl-driving, schdom reached by the oldest mactationers.

"Now, don't stare about you all the after-atom," cries Judy, shaking her head and stamping her foot, as she happens to catch the glance which has been previously sounding the basin of tea, "but take your victuals and get back to your work."

"Yes, miss," says Charley.

"Hon't say yes," neturns Miss Smallweed, "for I know what you girls are. Do it without saying it, and then I may begin to believe you."

Charley swallows a great gulp of tea in token of submission, and so disperses the Druidical ruins that Miss Smallweed charges her not to gonandize, which "in you girls," she observes, is disgusting. Charley night find some more difficulty in meaning her views on the general subject of girls, but for a knork at the door.

See who it is, and don't chew when you open it "cries Judy.

"See who it is, and don't riew what you open it is cries Judy.

"The object of her attentions, withdrawing for the purpose. Muss Smallweed takes that opportunity of jumbling the remainder of the bread and buner tagether, and launching two or three dirty teacurps into the obb-ride of the basin of tea; as a kint that she considers the cating and drinking acceptance. Who is it, and what's wanted? says he shappish Judy.

It is one "Mr. George," it appears. Without ther unmouncement of ceremony, Mr. George which "says Mr. George. "You are hot here. Always a fire, ch? Well! Perhaps you do right to get used to one." Mr. George makes the latter remark to himself, as he nods to Grand-

the latter remark to himself, as he nods to Grand-falter Samilwood.

"Ho! It's you!" cries the old gentleman.—

"How de do!" How de do?"

"Middling," replies Mr. George, taking a chair.

"Your grand-daughter I have had the nonor of seeing before; my service to you, miss."

"This is my grandson," says grandfather Smallwed. "You han! t seen him before. He is in the saw, and not match at home."

"My service to him, too! He is like his sister. He is very like his sister. He is devilish like his nater." says Mr. Ganage, haying a great and not integether complimentary stress on his last adjective.

And how does the world use you, Mr. George?

Grandistiner Swellwerd inquires, slowly rubbing as bys.

Pretty meet as usual. Like a football.

He is a swarthy browned man of fifty, stoutly built, and good looking; with erisp dark hair, bright eyes, and a broad chest. His sinewy and powerful hands, is sandwrnt as his face, inwe evidently been used to a party rough life. What is entirous though the sandwrnt as his face, inwe evidently been used to a party rough life. What is entirous though the sandwrnt as his face, inwe evidently been used to a party rough life. What is entirous though the dress or accontenents, that he has sategether laid uside. His step, too, is mensured and heavy, and would go well with a weighty clash and jingle of spars. He is close-shawed now, but his month is set as if his upper lip had been for years familiar with a great nuslache; and his namer of occasionally laying the open palm of his broad brown hand upon it, is to the same effect. A ingether, one might guess Mr. George to have been a trooper once upon a time.

A special contrast Mr. George makes to the Samilweed family. Trooper was never yet-billeted upon a household more unlike him. It is broadstowed to an oyster-knife: His developed figure, and their stunked forms; his large anamer filling any annount affector, and their little narrow purched ways; has sounding voier; and their slarp spare times, are in the strongest and the strangest opposition. As he sits in the middle of the grim parlor, leaning a little forward, with his hands upon his thighs, and his elbows squared, he looks as though, if he remained there long, by would absorb into himself the whole fourly and the woole four-roomed house, extra little back-kitchen and all.

Do you and by our legs to rub life into len?

"Why it's partly a habit, Mr. George, and—yes—it partly helps the circulation," he replies.

"The cir-cu-la-tion!" repeats Mr. George, folding his array upon his chest, and seeming to hecome two sizes larger. "Not much of that, I come two sizes larger. "Not much of that, I should think."

"Tally. I'm old, Mr. George," says Grandfather Smallweed. "But I can entry my years. I'm older than her," nodding at his wife, "and see what she is!—You're a brimstone chatterer!" with a sedden revival of his late bestlity.

"Unlucky old soul!" says Mr. George, turning his head in that direction. "Don't seeld the old lady. Look in her herd, with her poor cap half off her head, and her pior chairall in a moddle. Hold up, ma'am. Thark better. There we are! Think of your mother, Mr. Smallweed," says Mr. George, coming back to his sent from assisting her. "If your wife an't enough."

"I suppose you were an excellent son, Mr. George," the old man bints with a here.

"I enter of George's face indirer deepens, as he replies: "Why no. I was'nt."

"Jam at I lought to have been a good son, and I think I meant to have been one. But I was a thoudering bad son, that's the long and the short of it, and never was a credit to any body.

"Surprising!" cries the old man.
"However," Mr. George resumes, "the less said about it, the better now. Come: You know the agreement. Always a pipe out of the two months' interest! (Boshi It's all correct. "I think he might—I am afraid he would. I have known him do it." says Grandfather Smallweed, inautiously, "twenty times."

Incautiously, because his stricken better-half, who has been dozing over the fire for some time, is instantly aroused and jabbers, "Twenty thousand pounds, twenty twonty-pound notes in a money-box, twenty guineas, twenty million thousand pounds, twenty twenty-pound notes in a money-box, twenty guineas, twenty million twenty per cent. twenty—" and is then cut short by the rlying cubilon, which the visitor, to whom this singular experiment appears to be a novelty, snatches from her face, as it crushes her in the mont manuar.

JAMES McM. SHAFTER, of Shebongan County. per, Douglas' Speech.

A sort of a mild dilution of Senator Douglas! Gen. Scott as to his opinions upon naturalization, he News thus reports the speech :

He commented at length upon Scott's ridiculous proposition to admit foreigners to the right of suffrage, who should serve two years in the Army or Navy in time of actual war, and showed that in couler to request the requirement of the suffrage of the state of the suffrage of the suffra or Navy in time of action war, and showed the order to prevent their disfranchisement, it would be necessary to get up a war to kill them of, and increase the Army and Navy to three hundred thousand men. His remarks upon this topic were received with shours of laughter at the expense of the grent whig statesman Scott. That is a very poor sort of a report of Mr Doug has' remarks. The Wisconsin had a more faithful one, as follows : then. Scott's proposal of a plan for the naturalization of all foreigness by their serving one year in the orany or may in time of actual war, was clearly exhibited in its monstrous absurdity, and the propounder is welcome to "all the honor" which may accrue from the idea.

to their adopted country by serving a year in its Hibbard, (regular dem.) comiss or naw in var time, should be entitled to Chandler, (independent dem.) armies or many in war time, should be entitled to the rights of citizenship. And it is this proposiion to extend those rights, and shorten the time in ertain meritorious cases, which Mr. Douglas, and he News, and Wisconsin, and the men who aspire o lead the regular democracy by the nose, torture into a proposition to limit these privileges of citizenship. The people are not fools, to be deceived y such a transparent fraud.

Again, says the News :--Judge D, then alluded to the Religious test Juestion. He said the charge was made, in medi-puestion. He said the charge was made, in medi-tely upon Gen. Pierce's nomination, that he had hydred that illiberal test in the constitution of N.

No such charge was ever made, as this doughty Senator mentions. It was a man of straw, built by Gao. M. Dallas at the ratification meeting at hiladelphia on the Monday evening after Ma Pierce's numination, and he started the shameful alsahord that "Mr. Pierce and his party had labored for years to get the test expanged, but were always defeated by the White "-a falsehood which an appeal to the recorded vote has most clearly exposed long ago. Once more, the News reports :---

He then effectually disposed of the federal fal-heey of "the higher the first the cheaper the price," and exhibited its unjust and unequal operation, benefiting the rich at the expense of the poor.

No party-no man-in this or any other land has ever upheld any such dectrine as "the higher the tax, the cheaper the price," and yet Mr. Douglass is represented as busily engaged in a game of fisticuffs with such a doctrine, and the faithful as fatiguing themselves with boisterous applause over the exhibition. The speaker did make himself exceedingly ridiculous, and perhaps leceived some innocent hearer, by his talk about the "magnificent ruins" of the factories of New England. Certainly no whig has occasion to fear the citation of the cases referred to. Protected for years by Whig policy, the various cotton factories of New England have grown beyond the need of the lostering hand of government. They are doubtless, to a considerable degree prosperous From them the vast quantity of cotton goods needed in our country is supplied, and at a far cheaper rate than ever it was or would be sup-plied by foreign manufacturers, while the operatires and all concerned with them are consuming products of American agriculture to the tune of millions. Well may those interests prosper. Let these Locofoco politicians call their edifices "magnificent ruins"! They are the sort of ru der the hammer and deserted, testify to the deadly influence of the contrary policy, which the modern democracy seek to faster upon us.

The people of the West, earnest in their determination to build up a home market for their produce, are not to be frightened into submission, as were the English children of the old border stronghold, by the cry of "Lo! the black Docc-LASS!"-They know their true interests too

RUSENDALE, FOND DE LAC CU., SCOTT THE PANORAMA -- We learn that the attendance The Whigs of Rosendale and vicinity held a neeting at the village of Resendale, on the 21st nat, for the purpose of organizing a Scott Club Dr. S. Hall being called to the chair, the following Preamble and constitution were presented and adopted:

We, the Whigs of Rosendale and vicinity and all others who are friendly to the election of Westers of Scott for President, and William for Vice President of the United States, do lay down the following cardinal principles which shall govern us and which we shall content for, in the coming Presidential contest.

1. Duties on imports—specific so far as practicable—affecting ample protection to our undeveloped, or peculiarly exposed bunneles of National Industry.

2. Liberal appropriations yearly for the improvement of all our actional highways, Rivers and Harbors, in the west as well as in the East, Cutting down the Expenditures for Forts, Troops and warlike enginery of all kinds, and appropriating largely to those works which do not "perish with the using," but will remain for ages to benefit the people, strengthen the Union, and convibite for more to the National defence, than the costly machinery of war.

3. That the Public Lamis belong to the Pen-MILWAUREE ACADEMY-OPENING POSTPONE

ostly machinery of war.

3. That the Public Lands belong to the Page costly machinery of war.

3. That the Public Lands belong to the Panple and should be granted, free of cost, in limited quantities to landless settlers.

4. Do unto others (the weak as well as the powerful) as we would have them do unto us. No shuffling, no existion of drities, nor shicking of reapossibilities, but a firm front to despots. A prompt rebuke to every outrage on the Laws of nations, and a generous active sympathy with the victims of tyranny and usurpation everywhere.

5. We scout the doctrine, that any stantory
Law is a finality—hat subject as all other human laws to a modification or repeal.

6. No interference by Congress with Slavery as it now exists in any State—but a firm and rigilant resistance to its legalization in any National Territory, or the acquisition of any Foreign Territory wherein Slavery may or may not exist—an everlasting protest against the hunting of Fugitive Slaves in Free States, as an inevitable cause of agitation, ill feeling and alienation between the North and the South—A firm, carnet and inflexible testimony in comman with the great mass of the Whig party, that humon Slavery though legally protected, is morally wrong and ought to be speedily terminated.

Therefore, believing that the above are a few of the eardinal principles of the Whig purty, and are calculated to promote the wealth, prosperity and happiness of this Republic—and that the election of Scott & Graham will insure to the people of this Union the principles for which we contend, we do present this constitution for the government of the Rosendale Scott Club; Constitution. Art. 1. This association shall be organized, and known as the Rosendale Scott and Graham

We heartily rejoice at the result of the proceedings of that Convention, considering as we to that the emilidate is eminearly fitted for the office to which he nominated. Mr. Durand is a mative of Connecticut, but reasoved to Racine in 1843, since which time, he has identified himself with the interest of our city and district Engaged in a large and extensive mercantile business, he has not particularly connected himself with politics, though he has always been known as an arident Whig, a warm advocate of the protective policy, and a time supporter of Internal Improvements of Rivees and Embors in the West. As a business, Mr. Darand is estimently paterical, sound in his views, and well acquainted with the interests of the West.

As a speaker, Mr. Darand is clear, consise, yet finent, and frequently eloquent, his quick energetic mind, conkling him readily to group a cubice, and apprecial it in all its bearinst.

Engineer & Superintendent Engineer & Superintend WE invite the attention of our renders to the ad-We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the columns of our paper, as a remedy of the first importance to the community. The certificates published in its favor are not from unknown names, but from eminent and widely celebrated men. Statesman, Professors, Cleryymen and Physicians give their strong assurance that this new medicine for the cure of pulmonary disease, can be refled on with conflictnee by the afflicted for reflux, and we truly hope its results in our section, will austain their conclusions elsewhere.

DR. STORY'S CELEBRATED SCORE CAPET CAPEY—No medicine ever invented has gained more popularity than this, nor is there any more describing of it. There are so few compounds worthy the high merit claimed for them, that when one which is really destined to benefit the efflicted a put forth, we are slow to believe our more intimate friends, when they perfise it. But Storm's Scotch Cough Candy is sold at a price so low, it must be evident to all that if it did not assain a good reputation, cough would not be sold to pay for advertising. Aimest every person that uses thus criticle according to direction will fast justified in recommending it to others, it needs but a small outly of money and time to satisfy the most sceptical that it is worthy of all confidence as a remedy in diseases of the Chest and Longs.

NEW YORK, JULY 12th, 1852.

THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE EXHIBITION OF THE INDUSTRY OF ALL NATIONS give notice that the Exhibition will be opened, in the City of New York, on the 2d day of May, 1853. The Monkingal anthorities have grained to them the use of Reservoir Square, and they are proceeding to erect thereon a building worthy of he purpose to which it is to be devoted. The Association desire to make the Exhibition, in fact as well as in name, a Representation from other countries as well as their own, of Raw Materials and Preduce, Manufactures, Machinery and Fine Arts. To this end they have made orrangements with Chantas Beschen, Esquire, late Commissioner of the Austrian Empire at the Industrial Exhibition of London whose skill, experience and high character offer the most satisfactory security to Contributors from abrond. Mr. Buschek is the authorized Agent of this Association, for all countries other than the Confinence of America, and as such has received its instructions. All communications all countries other than the Continent of America, and as such has received its instructions. All communications from Contributors abroad must be addressed to him at "The Odice of the Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations in New York," No. 8 Charing Cross, London. He will state to them the nature of the powers given and authority conferred, and will also explain the great inducements offered by this Enterprise to European Exhibitors. This association will correspond with all persons in the United States, the Canadas and British Provinces, the West Indies, and this Continent generally, who may desire to contribute to this Exhibition. All such communications must be addressed to "The Secretain of The Association For The Exhibition of The Index not The Association for the Indies, and the desired that they be sent in immediately. Due notice will be given, hereafter, when the Building will be wordy for the reception of articles. Application ng will be ready for the reception of articles. Applicatio for the admission of Objects to the Exhibition must refor the admission of Objects to the Exhibition must re-present intelligibly their nature and purpose, and must also state distinctly the number of Square Fact, whether of Wall, Place or Counter, required. Machinery will be exhibited in motion—the Motive Power to be durnished by the Association—and applications for the admission of Machinery, to be so calibited, in addition to the general description and the requisition for space, must set forth the amount of Motive Power required. The Association deem it proper to announce that Paintings in Frames will be exhibited. As, notwithstanding the magnitude of the proposed Bulkling, there must, necessarily, be a limitation of space, the Association reserves the right to modify or reject applications; but, in an deling, will be governed by strict impartiality, looking only to the general objects of the Enject applications; but, in so deing, will be governed by strice, impartiality, looking only to the general objects of the Enterprise. The Association also reserves the right of determining the length of time, not to exceed in any case one season, during which objects shall, severally, form part of the Exhibition. Exhibitions are requested to designate an Agent, to whom their contributions shall be delivered when withdrawn from the Exhibition. Private of excellence in the sarlous departments of the Exhibition, will be awarded under the direction of Capable and Eminent Persons. With this examment the Directors solicit the] co-operation
